

FGN League Availability Board — Quick Guide

 The link: <https://fgn-scheduler.onrender.com>

No app to download, no account, no password. Just open the link in any browser (phone or computer) and you're in.

First time here? Join the league

1. Open the link above
2. You'll land on My Availability
3. Under "Or add yourself," type your name
4. Pick your division — North or South
5. Your timezone should auto-fill correctly — just double check it looks right
6. Tap Join League

That's it, you're in. Next time you open the link, just pick your name from the Existing Player dropdown at the top instead — no need to re-add yourself.

Marking your free times

Once you've joined, you'll see a 7-day grid (Mon–Sun) with hourly time slots.

- Tap any slot to mark yourself free at that time — it lights up
- Tap it again to clear it
- Every tap saves instantly — no "save" button, no losing your changes
- Everyone sees times in their own timezone automatically — so if you're in Montreal and mark yourself free at 8pm, someone in London sees the correctly converted time on their end when they check against you

Checking when you and someone else can both play

1. Tap the Compare tab at the top
2. Pick Player A and Player B from the dropdowns — you can compare anyone, even across North/South (useful once finals roll around)
3. The grid highlights every slot where both of you are free
4. A matching list of those exact times sits next to the grid (or below it on phones) so you don't have to squint at the grid

Fixed your name, wrong timezone, or need to leave?

Right next to your name at the top of My Availability, you'll see three small links:

- wrong timezone? — fixes your timezone without touching your saved times
 - switch player — lets you pick a different name (if you're sharing a device, or picked the wrong name by mistake)
 - remove me — removes you and your saved availability from the league entirely (only use this if you're actually leaving!)

One thing to know: the app might take ~30 seconds to load sometimes

This app runs on a free hosting plan, which means if nobody's opened the link in the last 15 minutes or so, it "falls asleep" to save resources. The first person to open it after a quiet spell will see a blank/loading screen for 20–60 seconds before it wakes up and loads normally.

This is completely normal — not broken. Just give it a moment and it'll load. Once it's awake, it's instant for everyone else until it goes quiet again.

If you open it and nothing happens for what feels like forever (more than a minute or two), then something's actually wrong — ping the group.

That's the whole app. Mark your times, check overlaps with whoever you're trying to play, and have fun 🎮
